 Dear Candi:

Please consider my questions to correspond with your written form called "Candidates for Governor."

1. The furnishing of entertainment for the public has come to an end. I plan to eliminate all non-essential segments of the Government. All State employees who remain will be a part of my Income Tax Refusal Budget, wherein I will direct the Controller to not withhold State Employees Federal Income Tax so they may personally spend it at their own volition. The State Parks must be eliminated. All employees relieved of their occupations will be a part of the Social Security Rebate Plan which will force the Federal Government to refund all social security 'investments' back into the ownership of those 'investors,' in a single amount of funds which were taken for social security. This means that these employees will receive a sizeable check rebate with interest calculated from the date of their 'investment,' and they will be free to start their own businesses, parks, etc.

2. The sale of these parks will help balance the State Budget.

3. See No. 1 and 2. Many national state parks are merely a front for the promotion of evolution and the artificial environmentalism boondoggle. The earth was not created 'millions' of years ago, as many park displays suggest. God made everything.

4. It is not the government's responsibility to provide entertainment for the general public. That is their responsibility.

5. The entire grant system is nothing more than extortion wherein federal income tax is used to force States to hire whom they say, buy their mandated materials and generally persecute the taxpayer. Recycling money has proven to be a noose around the neck of the taxpayer and must end. The State also uses this extortion program to force the counties to do the bidding of these innovative ways of making jobs. This Santa Claus scheme must end.

6. My guide to making government smaller is the one used by our founding fathers in our Constitutions, prior to 1900.

7. It is not the government's responsibility to entertain the children; that is the job of the parent. Such job-creating schemes will be eliminated.

8. It is not the government's responsibility to see whether you are fat or skinny. This is your or your parents responsibility. The veneer of "caring" is nothing more than a job-scheme to save the insurance companies from the supposed 'harm' caused by eating. Statistics are a poor standard for doing right. I plan to end the busybody government.

I hope I have answered your questions categorically. We are seeing the disintegration and rewriting of our history through government programs and often in public parks. This will stop.

If you have any questions or forums where I may appear, I will be happy to comply. We are being robbed of our God-given Rights and Liberties, and told often to 'shut up and pay the bills.' Should I be elected Governor, I will do all in my power to make the true taxpayer have a loud voice in government, and will reward all of those taxpayers with honors who have been subjected to be silenced when they are offering up their objections to government spending.

The following is an endorsement which I received from Florida.

CAMPAIGN CONTRASTS

The duopoly Parties (Dems and Reps) run back and forth from their chairs to the wet bar for more "attitude adjustment" while discussing and planning the 2010 election strategy.

Enter June Griffin, independent candidate for Tennessee governor in 2010. She depends on her friends to get the word out. She asks for no money. There are no "back room" politics going on.

Griffin, unlike the duopolies, when elected governor will seek measures to prohibit the "adult" beverage at all meetings between officials and the people. She says liquor does nothing but loosens the tongue AND the pocket book. She does have the endorsement of the Prohibition Party.

With the grandmotherly look and firmness, she is no stranger to the County Commissions across the state, nor to the Tennessee Court of Appeals, where she testified supporting anti-sodomy laws.

Griffin will impose firm opposition to federal intrusion and mandates "...which rob us of our basic rights." She will eliminate offices which have been created to "create jobs" under Title 42.

The Dayton matron believes strongly in the efficacy of beginning every day with prayer, for safety and wisdom "...just as our Founding Fathers, and many statesmen after them." Good moral character and integrity are desperately needed, and Griffin says that is what she will bring to the governor's office.

Griffin is strictly a Constitutionalist, and will insist that both the State and Federal Constitutions be enforced. She will push the legislature to pass sovereignty resolutions/amendments which will free the State from "Washington's tyrannical controls."

Campaign contrast? Looks like voters will have a distinctive choice come November, 2010.

Griffin invites Tennessee voters to contact her at 522 Crestview, Dayton, or call her: (423) 775-0774; or email her at jb21@juno.com.
